Commercial Patent Attorney, Bath

Handsome IP are a small yet growing firm that can offer new recruits a role that is broader and much more commercially focused than is often the norm. You will:

- Enjoy a stimulating range of work based internationally and in the UK, predominantly from SME's but also from larger corporate clients and agency work
- Benefit from a clear plan for career progression; the recruitment of this position is fundamental to the development of the firm and you will have a major influence on how the practice develops during the years to come
- Provide an excellent service to your clients, including patent preparation and prosecution work as well as offering sound strategic and commercial advice
- Seize the opportunity to gain experience that goes beyond the core skills of a private practice patent attorney, such as trade marks, designs, infringement, and IP strategy
- Enjoy a great deal of autonomy and be part of a close-knit and informal office
- Build a rapport with both new and existing clients via face to face meetings
- Play a vital role in aiding the firm's ongoing business development strategy with the support and encouragement of your peers

Ideal candidates will be part qualified patent attorneys with a technical background broadly within the mechanical engineering/electronics areas, however qualified attorneys will also be considered. The firm is very comfortable with the position being either full time or part time, depending on the candidate. Other benefits include private medical health care, smart phone for work/personal use, and 25 days annual leave.
