

FINNEGAN

European Patent Attorney, Qualified

Any Technical Discipline

Brussels

As a part of their strategic growth plan and to satisfy increasing client needs, Finnegan are seeking qualified European Patent Attorneys to join their Brussels office. One of the largest and most prestigious law firms in the world focusing exclusively on IP, Finnegan are looking to recruit a senior qualified patent attorney with the business and marketing experience needed to assist in expanding Finnegan's European practice. They are also interested in recently qualified attorneys who would like to join their growing pan-European practice in the heart of Europe.

This is a unique chance to take your career to the next level and join a large US firm in a senior position. Finnegan value and invest in their attorneys. To an extent, you will be the architect of your own role by developing the business that you find most interesting and taking on the responsibilities you enjoy. Their team approach, firm client perspective, and commitment to their professionals' growth are just some of the factors that differentiate the firm's culture. In addition, Finnegan offers the collegiality that is increasingly rare in large law firms.
